Demands Faster Action In Ending Nation's Strikes

Secretary Of Labor Prods Industry And Labor For Speed In Settlements

PROBING INTO LARGE WALKOUTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(INS)—Secretary of Labor Lewis B. Schwellenbach prodded industry and labor today for fast action in settling strikes under the government's new wage-price program.

The labor secretary expressed confidence that the revised stabilization policy "can work" and appealed to industry not to hold back for advance price commitments before settling wage disputes.

Reviewing the list of major industrial shutdowns still persisting after removal of "the key logjam in steel," he said:

Push For Settlements

"We're going into every strike situation this week and push for a settlement.

"For a long time we've been dead center. People said steel had to be settled first. They argued it was impossible to grant wage boosts as long as they couldn't be considered for price relief.

"The two things are out of the way. It's now time to find out whether the other controversies can be settled."

Schwellenbach declared there "is no reason" the 92-day-old General Motors walkout can't be settled within a few days if the company

Plow, Cinder Trucks All Needed Overnight To Keep Roads Safe

Five inches of snow, mostly slush which later turned to ice, kept the highway department busy all of Tuesday afternoon and most of the night, according to highway superintendent Edwin O. Reed.

The slush was plowed off most of the main roads during the afternoon, but when the snow froze later in the evening, the highways had to be cindered. Although the main roads are pretty well taken care of, they are still liable to be slippery in places.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Variable weather of the past day put the streets and highways in rather a treacherous condition this morning. Ashing crews were busy and took care of the most dangerous hills, but even the level stretches provided good chances for cars to skid, it was found by drivers.

New Castle apparently escaped the worst of last night's storm. Reports from the central part of the state reveal that snowfall amounted to around a foot in depth, as a result of the night's storm.

Some roads were somewhat drifted and snowplows were used in clearing some of the routes for traffic this morning.

Pa Newc is informed that there has been a renewal of dumping rubbish and garbage along some of the roads in the county recently, and that special efforts are to be made to capture those responsible for the practice.

Believe U.S. Will Remain Aloof In Canada's Spy Hunt

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(INS)—Diplomatic observers believe today that the United States will take only a back seat part in tracking down and prosecuting the international spy ring reportedly unearthed in Canada.

In view of the tangled international situation, it was understood that the United States prefers to remain aloof from the spy-pursuit which might cloud already sensitive relations with the Soviet Union.

Hands-Off Policy
Secretary of State James F. Byrnes emphasized the United States determination to observe a hands-off policy. He told a news conference that as far as he knew, there was no evidence of the ring having operated in the United States. Nor he added, did he know of any American citizens being involved.

Previously it had been reported that a large number of persons were under surveillance by the Federal Bureau of Investigation. It had also been asserted that the ring had been under observation by the FBI in this country but that the United States had refused to permit arrests.

Points Made by Byrnes
Byrnes, at a news conference during which he was sharply questioned for 45 minutes, made these points:

1. The United States is the sole possessor of the "know how" for making the atomic bomb. Britain

Well Known Chicagoan Battles Home Intruder

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—(INS)—Police re-evaluated today that John L. Keeshin, trucking magnate and owner of the Chicago club in the All-American Football conference, fought off an armed intruder in his home early yesterday.

Keeshin used a blanket as his only weapon against the bandit's loaded pistol.

The intruder escaped after a terrific fight.

Chicago and suburban police pressed a search for the masked gunman, who was described as young and frail. He spoke with a southern drawl.

Enters Through Window
Police said the hoodlum entered the palatial Keeshin home in River Forest through a window. He first removed a storm sash.

Then he went to the basement, where he aroused three Negro maids.

Storm Hampers Traffic In State

Central Part Of Pennsylvania Has Nearly Foot Of Snowfall

ALL MAIN ROUTES REPORTED AS OPEN

Rail, bus and air transportation throughout Pennsylvania was crippled today in the wake of a combination snow and rain storm—with most snow promised.

The state highway department reported all main routes open in the state, however, particularly in eastern and central Pennsylvania.

A blanket of nearly 11 inches of snow paralyzed transportation in the Harrisburg area, closing down the Harrisburg airport and forcing all rail transportation out of the capital to run late.

Bedford County Hard Hit
In Western Pennsylvania, Pittsburgh escaped with two inches of snow, though Bedford reported nine and Brozewood (Bedford county) 12 inches, high for the state.

At least one death, three injuries and a wave of collisions resulted from the storm in the Philadelphia area.

Weather forecasters predicted additional snow flurries for tonight and tomorrow.

Maintenance crews aided by snow plows work on primary highways before clearing secondary routes, the department of highways reported. Driving was described as hazardous, especially on routes through mountainous sections.

Tradition Broken By Maid Of Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 20.—(INS)—Pretty Gwin Barnwell, chosen as 1946 Maid of Cotton, was proud today over having shattered a 75-year-old precedent.

Gwin was the first girl to step into the trading ring of the cotton exchange since it was founded.

She was escorted into the ring by Dan T. Manget, exchange president, one of the judges who chose her from among hundreds of contestants. Manget told her:

"You are the first lady we have ever allowed here."

Mock bidding was staged, as the real business was over for the day.

Significance In Appointment To Treasury Cited

See Evidence Of "Middle-Of-The-Road" Policy Of President In Gardner Selection

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(INS)—President Truman has given further evidence of a new "middle-of-the-road" economic program in the naming of former Governor O. Max Gardner of North Carolina as under-secretary of the treasury.

The appointment assumes more than usual significance because Gardner will serve as acting secretary of the treasury while Secretary Fred M. Vinson attends frequent meetings of the new world bank—the International Bank of Reconstruction.

Gardner is expected to participate heavily in drafting of new tax laws. He has been chairman of the advisory commission to Reconversion Chief John W. Snyder.

Gardner is a "middle-of-the-road liberal". He is a lawyer and manufacturer in private life. In his private and public life he has expressed belief in high wages. In the recent wage-price controversy he endorsed higher prices to meet increased wages to keep industry out of the red.

Phone Strike Is Authorized

National Federation Of Telephone Workers Gives Approval To Strike Move

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 20.—(INS)—A resolution calling for a strike which would cripple much of the nation's telephone service had the approval today of the National Federation of Telephone Workers.

Adoption of the resolution was voted yesterday by delegates to the NPTW's wage and policy conference in Memphis, but no date was set for a walkout of the union's 250,000 members.

The delegates directed that the federation's 49 affiliates continue bargaining with telephone companies "to secure, if possible, a peaceful and satisfactory settlement of all disputes."

Given Authority
The union's executive board was given authority to call a strike whenever it deems such action proper and "with due consideration of the circumstances of the various affiliates."

Federation officials announced that delegates representing 121,000 union members voted in favor of

Japanese Emperor Sees Tragic Results Of War Of Jap Aggression In Trip

TOKYO, Feb. 20.—(INS)—Emperor Hirohito continued his "down to earth" inspection of his nation's suffering today, and saw the tragic results of Jap aggression in the South Seas as he toured repatriation centers and hospitals near Yokosuka.

The emperor was noticeably more at ease while bending low to speak to bedridden Jap soldiers and sailors and laughingly chatting with children regarding their school work while overseas.

Object of his considerations were the Japanese troops and their families recently repatriated from Pacific areas they had momentarily wrested from the Allies.

The businesslike troops were accompanied by a British naval officer in a sound truck which toured the city. He called on the demonstrating seamen to return to their ships and warned that arrest faced those who continued the walkout.

Mrs. ASAF Ali, Indian congress party leader, estimated that some 15,000 seamen were involved.

APPOINTMENT UPROAR GOES ON

Under fire before Senate committees, where their presidential appointments are up for confirmation, are Edwin Pauley, right in top photo, and Commodore James K. Vardaman, Jr., lower right. A highlight in the day's committee hearing on the Pauley appointment for undersecretary of the Navy was the argument touched off when Sen. Ralph O. Brewster of Maine asked witness Harold Judson, lower left, if he did not wish to testify further, "because you might incriminate yourself."

Judson, assistant solicitor general, replied angrily, "I resent that statement." Sen. Allen J. Ellender of Louisiana, left in top photo, capped the verbal battle with "who's on trial here, Pauley or Judson?" After the shouting subsided, Ellender and Pauley discussed the tirade with Pauley's counsel, Sam Truitt, center top. At the same time Vardaman, nominated as a governor of the Federal Reserve system, was being questioned by the Senate banking committee on his past business activities.

Dr. Daniel Blum, a VA director, disclosed the hospital will be used for neuro-psychiatric patients, if approved by the administration.

Meantime, plans were held up on the proposed $10,900,000 neuro-psychiatric hospital at Camp Reynolds, Greenville, Pa.

Originally, the VA rejected the Deshon site because of its distance from Pittsburgh's medical centers.

West Coast Boxer Shot By Officer

DENVER, Feb. 20.—(INS)—Frank Smith, 25, professional west coast boxer known in the ring as "Roddy O'Dooley," of Steamboat Springs, Colo., was shot today by a Denver policeman.

Smith was shot in the chest by Patrolman Harry Bernstein, 38, during a melee resulting from an attempt by the officer to take Smith and two companions into custody.

Following the shooting, police said, Smith and two brothers, James and Wade Mosley, assaulted the officer. The boxer was taken to a Denver hospital suffering from "head injuries, a possible fractured jaw and a possible fractured hand."

Police reported the men had created a disturbance.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—(INS)—The former Prince Carl Johan of Sweden and his bride were heading for a honeymoon trip in the South today following their marriage at Riverside church.

Neither seemed to be disturbed over the fact that the prince, by marrying a commoner, renounced his title and his rights to the Swedish throne.

Three Issues To Be Settled In GM Strike

DETROIT, Feb. 20.—(INS)—General Motors and the United Automobile Workers were in agreement today on approximately 15 of the 20 issues holding up settlement of the 92-day-old UAW strike.

Federal Mediator James F. Dewey said the corporation agreed to re-instate most of the 19 clauses of the wartime contract that the union demands. Wages are an additional issue.

At least three other important issues remain, according to Dewey. These include wages, maintenance of membership and union security.

Dewey said the last three days were devoted to discussions of union security.

To the UAW negotiators union security is nothing less than "paragraph 63" of the cancelled wartime contract. Following the lead of their vice president, Walter P. Reuther, the negotiators insist they won't sign a contract without it.

General Motors corporation, represented by its president, C. E. Wilson, is just as insistent that paragraph 63 won't be in the contract.

Other parts of her body—the head, torso and both legs—were found in sewer catch basins closer to her home on the day of the murder.

Also found with the arms was a four-foot section of broom handle which police believe was used to pry the heavy iron cover off the sewer manhole.

The power line workers had gone into the little-used alley to make repairs on a transformer. One of them, Paul Lloyd, glanced down through the perforated sewer lid and saw the arms, bent at the elbows.

Police removed the arms and found a white ring around the wrist of the left member. They said the ring indicated that Suzanne's arms had been tied behind her back before the killer dissected her body.

Finding Of Arms Spurs Renewal Of Kidnaper Hunt

CHICAGO, Feb. 20.—(INS)—Finding of the arms of 6-year-old Suzanne Degnan, kidnapped from her Chicago home, slain and dismembered January 7, spurred the police hunt today for the killer.

The arms were found yesterday by two power company employees in an alley sewer four blocks from the child's home on the city's North Side.

Other parts of her body—the head, torso and both legs—were found in sewer catch basins closer to her home on the day of the murder.

Production In Steel Plants Is Increasing

Estimate 427,000 Of Steel Strikers Have Now Returned To Work

FABRICATORS ARE STILL STRIKE-BOUND

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 20.—(INS)—United Steel Workers officials today entered the mop-up stages of the crumbling steel strike as the nation's mills swung into partial production and scheduled accelerated operations for the remainder of the week.

Fabricating and non-integrated companies were the principal hold-outs against the steel industry's contract settlement, as an estimated 427,000 of the more than 750,000 strikers returned to work.

102 Companies Sign
A spokesman for the national headquarters of the union said 102 companies throughout the country have signed new wage agreements of 18½ cents an hour or better.

Union officials reported a sharp decline in signing of companies, with only three reaching an agreement with the union yesterday. They were the American Bridge company of Ambridge, Pa., a U. S. Steel subsidiary, included in the basic steel contract, the Sharon Steel corporation and the Petroleum Iron Works, a division of U. S. Steel.

See Keen Competition
With all the basic mills signed to new wage agreements the production race was on. Observers believe it will be the keenest competition since the years before the war.

The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation listed tentatively 54 open hearth furnaces for operation by Friday. They also have scheduled several roller and hot mills to begin handling ingot steel this week.

James & Laughlin Steel corporation, largest of the independent producers, scheduled 14 per cent of capacity production this week. With in 24 hours after they signed a new contract, the J. & L. plant blew in

PARDON BOARD DENIES PLEA FOR DOOMED SLAYERS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—(INS)—Lt. Gov. John C. Bell, Jr., said today that the State Pardon Board had refused clemency for two Williamsport men convicted of slaying Joseph Campbell, 73-year-old Erie industrialist.

The plan had been filed by Robert E. Pepperman, 30, and John D. West, 28, after the State Supreme court refused to set aside the first degree murder verdict returned by an Erie county jury.

Although the board voted not to recommend clemency to Gov. Edward Martin, the chief executive has authority to order the executions stayed.

March 25 has been fixed for the execution of the two men in the electric chair at Rockview penitentiary near Bellefonte.

The clemency appeals had been opposed by District Attorney D. J. McLaughlin, who described the fatal beating of Campbell as cold-blooded.

Locating The Enemy

The amazing role played by the United States Signal Corps in winning the war is just now being revealed to the public. Maj. Gen. Harry C. Ingles, its chief, has made known the existence of the counter-mortar radar and a device which made possible night detection of moving troops and vehicles.

Both of these were Signal Corps adaptations of radar, the miracle "eye" that played so important a part in spotting enemy planes from afar and in the winning by the RAF of the Battle of Britain.

The counter-mortar device obtained accurate bearings on the paths of enemy projectiles, giving American artillery the exact locations of enemy guns. Vehicular targets were detected up to 16 miles and individual enemy soldiers could be spotted on the radar "scopes" up to three miles.

This is warfare revolutionized. The enemy can no longer conceal his artillery. Neither can night nor camouflage hide the approach of his armored equipment or his troops.

Tax Evasion

Thousands of persons who acquired swollen fortunes during the war period may be called to account for alleged evasion of taxes, if Congress provides funds for investigations.

Secretary of the Treasury Fred M. Vinson told a House committee that the treasury has evidence of widespread evasion of taxes, and thinks millions can be recovered.

The committee is asked to supply funds for the employment of about five thousand additional agents for the Treasury department, most of whom would be former service men.

The Postoffice department also is seeking additional funds to hunt down persons who are suspected of using the mails to defraud war veterans and others in various ways.

It is not surprising that the savings accounts of many thousands are attracting the attention of the operators of fraudulent schemes of the seductive kind.

Steel Fabricators' Problem

The rush to follow the lead of the United States Steel Corp. continues with independent and non-integrated steel companies all over the country signing up with the union at the new wage level.

Still to come are the fabricators who are continuing a justified complaint that, by the increase in both wages and basic steel prices, they are trapped in an unprofitable position.

Peace in the steel industry will mean little unless peace also comes to the companies which use its product. And the wage and price increases will be little effective in getting the country reconverted until these attending management-union settlements are made.

The job of reaching these settlements is not easy. Price increases are required to absorb the additional costs and to decide on these prices requires an enormous amount of investigation by the Office of Price Administration.

The application of the same kind of thorough study to these price demands as was applied to basic steel would mean the prolonged undertaking of reviewing the production and sales expenses involved in everything from bolts to boilers.

That some ready formula is needed is apparent. It must be a formula whereby each fabricator can receive at least tentative redress and the sure promise that government controls will not be made the instrument to fashion his eventual bankruptcy. A rule of thumb percentage gauge would be handy, but it is doubtful, opines the McKeesport News, whether there is sufficient wisdom in Washington or elsewhere to perfect one.

The answer appears to be a flat promise by the administration, backed by Congressional legislation, if necessary that no industry, hampered by the twin increases, will be fated to suffer unjustly until the OPA can get around to determine its individual case.

The new inflationary formula announced by the White House skirts this problem because it was designed primarily to get the men back into the mills. Now the White House must turn to the fabricators and, in furthering the movement toward full-scale production, it must have an answer, both quick and equitable, to avoid another industrial stall within a few weeks time.

A giraffe can see behind without turning its head. Many persons can remember school teachers who could do the same thing.

Chief Hunting Horse of the Kiowas rode a horse and used a bow and arrow on his 100th birthday which he observed at Saddle Mountain, Okla., but had nothing to say about taking back the country.

The smart husband who doesn't get home on time for dinner now can fix up an excellent alibi. He can tell his wife he has been standing in line for a couple of hours trying to get her a pair of nylon stockings.

A directive issued at Washington provides that all building material shall go into houses costing $10,000 or under. This probably will mean that no houses will be built for less than $10,000 no matter how far they "are under."

Ottawa reports that the Russian ambassador who went home in December is not expected back any day now.

There was nothing suspicious in his going. . . He just disappeared.

But we are not to think the worst. . . He may have accumulated enough points. . . or enough something.

Russian ambassadors are always going home from some place. . . Moscow has the only shuttle diplomacy in the world.

Meanwhile we are looking forward to Phil Murray's "era of industrial peace." Most of the 30 per cent swords have been beaten into 17 per cent wage shares.

Millions of dollars were lost in sales and wages but it's been a long time since so many men got so much of the outdoor life.

But so far I haven't heard anybody say "that was fun. . . let's do it again next year."

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Strike Situation Needs Thorough Study

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—When President Truman and his economic advisers sat down to reach final agreement on the new wage-price formula, they had before them some remarkable figures supplied by the Securities and Exchange commission. Those figures showed that U. S. corporations had a record volume of cash on hand in banks.

The total on September 30 of last year was $23,700,000,000. During July, August and September, it had increased by $1,900,000,000.

On the other hand, according to the SEC report to the White House, federal taxes owed by corporations took the first substantial drop since 1938. Accrued taxes as of September 30 amounted to $14,600,000,000, a decrease of $1,800,000,000 since the end of the previous quarter.

Trying To Hold Line
Chester Bowles, the new stabilization director, argued that the profit position of American business was so favorable that wage increases could be met in part at least out of profits. This is the stand he will take in trying to hold the new price line.

The net working capital of U. S. corporations is shown by the SEC report to be $50,900,000,000. That is more than double what it was in 1939 and an all-time high.

Business men say that the 50-billion-dollar figure gives a false impression, because it includes inventories and no one can predict what will be realized from goods on hand. But their worry over inventories seems to be somewhat unnecessary in view of the fact that this is a sellers market with a fantastic demand for everything under the sun.

Wildly Exaggerated Estimates
With regard to tax refunds, widely exaggerated estimates of what the carryback provision of the tax law will mean to corporations have been used. The carryback provision, continued through 1946, allows corporations to get back part of the excess profits tax they paid during the war if their 1946 earnings fall below the average for the years 1936 to 1939.

An example of the carryback given in this column some weeks ago over-estimated the amount to be reclaimed in a typical case by about one-third, even though the example was checked with a Treasury expert. In hearings before Congress, the Treasury estimated that about $550,000,000 would be returned to corporations under the carryback.

That estimate was made, however, before the wave of strikes began to cut off production and profits. Losses growing out of strikes may be made up, in part at least, out of the U. S. Treasury.

Tax Refund Positions
Besides the carryback, there are two other tax refund provisions which work in complicated ways to swell corporation coffers. Thus far, however, the amounts realized from these sources are small. The really sizable money, according to the Treasury, is involved in amortization clauses allowing a company to write off the cost of a plant in five or even in two or three years.

Looking at this picture of vast corporation reserves, you see how strong industry is in relation to labor. Business, in the current industrial warfare, occupies an entrenched position of great power. How much has that power influenced the stand of industry on strikes? From the left comes the insistent charge of a "plot," a "conspiracy," on the part of business to hold out against union demands.

In Detroit last week, in a hearing before National Labor Relations board member Gerard Reilly, C. E. Wilson of General Motors told of a meeting in New York on January 9 with the heads of steel, packing and other industries. Wilson said there was nothing "sinister" about the meetings.

The government, it seems to me, should know more about what is going on. At the start of the steel strike, an alert Senate should have had a special committee inquiring into every phase of the industrial crisis.

If there are industrialists who want to take advantage of their wartime prosperity to break the unions, then we should know about it. If there are extremists in the unions who are using a monopoly position to make impossible demands, then we ought to know about that, too. This a failure of government. A new formula picked out of the air is not likely to endure for long.

A LOW VOICE

"I have read much advice on cultivating a low voice. . . how that kind of voice is so much admired. My difficulty lies in having too low a voice. People frequently tell me they cannot hear me. It seems to me that loud-voiced people get along much better. What advice do you offer?"

Answer: Speak up! Evidently your low voice results from timidity—from lack of self-confidence in what you are saying. In acting so, you create uncertainty in the minds of your listeners. You would have to assert a little boldness and raise your voice to bring it up from the timid "mouset" stage. When you have an inferiority complex, you give the impression, justifiably or not, of being inferior, making those around you lack confidence in you.

You are correct. A low voice is admired by all. It indicates refinement and proper cultivation. But this-dweller refers to pitch, talking from the throat rather than from the top of the head down through the nose, a murmur or whisper, is a great annoyance—impossible to understand.

Speak distinctly. Don't blur your sentences together. Take time to think before you speak and speak clearly. On the contrary, don't emphasize each word as if you are exercising tongue control.

Making your voice audible is merely developing proper enunciation and more volume. Keep your pitch low but put sufficient force behind your voice for it to make an impression on your listeners. When people have to strain to hear you, they will cease listening to you.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A short time ago a very fine physician died.

He had had a big practice and was considered prosperous.

But when his widow looked into his financial affairs she found that he had been as good as a business man as he was good as a doctor.

He had been too busy taking care of the ills of others to look after his own welfare.

In his desk drawer she found stacks of unopened envelopes, containing checks that had never been deposited.

On his books—and a little neighborhood storekeeper kept a better set of books—there were hundreds of unpaid accounts, many dating back for years.

In his files there were copies of letters in which he had asked his patients please to pay, and many of their answers giving all kinds of excuses.

He had never sued anybody, never got tough with any of the delinquents. His business had been healing, not collecting money.

The widow turned the unpaid accounts over to an attorney. Some of them were paid, some were outlawed, some were ignored.

But none of them was sued—the doctor would not have wanted it.

Today the widow is working as a nurse, her only daughter is a secretary.

And, out where they live, some of the ladies and gentlemen whom the physician saved from death, and some of their offspring who he brought into the world, snub the two "working women" and don't consider them quite in their social set.

Why is it that the doctor is the first man everybody turns to when something goes wrong, and the last man who is paid when the wrong has been righted?

Why is it that the doctor is supposed to come out day or night, rain or shine, summer or winter, and then is so completely forgotten when the first of the month comes around?

Oh, the things that are promised to him when there is sickness or fear of death!

"I'll never forget you, doctor, you have saved my baby's life."

"I'll be eternally grateful to you, doctor. I feel like a new man."

"You are the best friend, doctor. I can never repay you."

No, you can never repay your doctor for his unselfishness, for his unswerving and his love of humanity.

But you can and you should pay him promptly, and at the sacrifice of the many other things, the measly few dollars he charges you for his time.

Else, he may save your body, but you may lose your soul.

The World and the Mud Puddles

SHIFTING THE BLAME

Only the older generation of Americans will remember the martyrdom of Alfred Dreyfus, a French Army officer of Jewish blood, who was convicted of treason in 1894 and imprisoned in a hell-hole of Devil's Island, later to be released and given the Order of the Legion of Honor upon proof that documents supposed to incriminate him were forged. The case was a world sensation, highlighted by the untiring and brilliant work of the French author, Emile Zola to ring out Dreyfus' name.

We flatter ourselves that Dreyfus' case could not happen here. But we recall the persecution and humiliation of the late General "Billy" Mitchell by his Army superiors for his efforts to arouse the nation to the need of an adequate air force to receive vindication only long after his death. More recently we have witnessed the attempts of those high in authority to make scapegoats of two officers in our Army, accused of the mistake—or worse—of those in supreme authority over our Army and Navy.

The persecution of Admiral Kimmel and General Short, while it does not parallel with the martyrdom of Dreyfus and his misadventures. As the facts are exactly unfalsified, and as the Pearl Harbor investigating committee, it appears that this persecution was deliberate and enforced by the highest authority. The basis of their condemnation and removal from active service was the Roberts Report, hastily and superficially assembled by the order of the Commander-in-Chief. Testimony before the inquiry committee not only shows the falsity of this report, but also, as it is related to the officers in question, but strongly indicates that it was inspired, if not actually ordered, by the highest authority in an effort to divert attention from those really responsible for the Pearl Harbor.

The attitude of the Commander-in-Chief subsequent to the publication of the Roberts Report, in blocking every attempt of the accused to obtain a court martial and an opportunity to defend themselves before the public, tends to confirm a suspicion that the sacrifice of the two officers was deliberate and ruthless. During more than four years their lips were sealed by military and naval law, while propaganda continued to emanate from high circles aimed to discredit them with the people. While others serving in our nation's record, and an honorable and others less deserving, were promoted and exalted, Admiral Kimmel and General Short were denied any opportunity to serve their country in the callings of their choice.

There are few instances, if any, in the history of our Armed Forces of such autocratic, selfish and cruel use of power. It is a disgraceful episode in our nation's record, and one known to all the people as a warning against similar abuses of authority in the future.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—There's no particular reason to get overly excited about Ed Pauley, that Big, Rich Oil Man whom nobody but Mr. Truman seems to think will make a good assistant secretary of the Navy. RUSSIA SHOWS GRUESOME FILM AT WAR TRIALS

Pictures Of Nazi Brutality Have Varying Effects On German
Defendants

NUERNBERG, Feb. 20.—(INS)—The most appallingly gruesome motion picture ever flashed upon any screen was shown by the Soviet Prosecution Tuesday at the trial of accused Nazi war criminals.

The showing climaxed a four-day explosion of German atrocities against civilians in Russia. It corroborated, with most brutal realism, all of the charges voiced by Assistant Soviet Prosecutor Leo Smirnov during the last four days.

It immediately after the liberation of Rostov, Kiev, Kharkov and Kerch, the pictures showed streets filled with the corpses of civilians shot by the Wehrmacht before its departure.

There were glimpses of whole families murdered after torture, babies with smashed skulls and a following shop each of whose seamstresses had been raped and slain.

Pictures were shown of mass graves, mutilated prisoners of war and pyres upon which thousands of civilians of both sexes were burned alive.

The now familiar horror sights of the Maidanek and Auschwitz prison camps were followed by pictures of a Danzig factory where soap was made from human fat drawn from beheaded bodies.

The film was so gruesome that several people in the audience fell sick and left the courtroom. The defendants themselves took it in varying fashion.

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel looked straight ahead except to steal furtive glances. Grand Admiral Erich Raeder wept. Joachim Von Ribbentrop pictured himself sick to his stomach, while Hermann Wilhelm Goering, Rudolph Hess and Franz Von Papen looked the other way.

Dr. Hjalmar Schacht and Baron Constantin Von Neurath followed the pictures attentively.

Cleveland Orchestra Thrills Huge Crowd

It has been the ambition of the Metropolitan Concert Guild for years to bring to New Castle the best in music. That ambition came to full flower Tuesday night when the Cleveland Orchestra appeared in the Cathedral. As an extra dividend upon a blue chip stock (or are we mixing metaphors a bit?) Edward McGill, a former New Castle artist, appeared as the piano soloist.

Here was olympian fare for the musically hungry. This was an evening of sheer enjoyment, one that easily topped anything the Guild has done previous and this is said with a recollection of some of the fine attractions brought here. From now on the Guild can afford to bring only the best for the memory of last night will linger long.

Balanced Program
For his program, Erich Leinsdorf, the conductor, displayed a positive genius in balancing. First "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" which to our way of thinking is Wagner near his peak. Robust in the Wagnerian style, there is a sweep and a majesty to this group of excerpts that the auditor is carried away. At times it was a hurricane sweeping through a forest, again it was a ballet dancing in the morning sunlight, and always a technical proficiency that stamps Leinsdorf as one of the truly great conductors of his time. Parenthetically, it at times this review shows traces of enthusiasm it is because the performance gave our enthusiasm wings.

For the second number the orchestra played the concerto for piano forte and orchestra by Mozart. Here the fluidity of Mozart replaced the heroics of Wagner. The concerto has a lilt and a beauty of birds singing in the trees.

It was in the Mozart number that Mr. McGill appeared. Local pride would have accorded him a welcome had he been less proficient than he was, but in describing Mc-

Gill's work, local pride can be forgotten. He is an artist in his own right, a brilliant technician who is at the threshold of a career that in our opinion will carry him far in the next few years. His fingering is beautifully clear and clean, his interpretation is intelligent, there is a warmth and sparkle to his work that bespeaks the true artist.

Closing Numbers
The second half of the program was "Antar," a symphonic suite Op. 9 by Rimsky-Korsakoff that was a pastoral in tone colors. It differed from the first two numbers but the difference was not in degree of beauty but in kind.

Closing the program was a polka and fugue from "Schwanda the Bagpiper" by Weinberger. It is a tuneful thing, pleasing in its orchestra effects and satisfying in its entire effect. Calling it the closing number is not quite correct for the audience demanded, and got, two Strauss encores.

This was not the first time the Cleveland Orchestra has played here. Back in 1921 and again in 1925 Nicolai Sokoloff brought the orchestra here. Time has not dimmed the pleasure of those two performances but it was far too long between appearances. As for Erich Leinsdorf, the conductor, there is little if anything to criticize. He seems to have invisible strings running from his fingers to each of the 85 instruments. Always the orchestra is under his control and he gets his effects with a minimum of motion. A slight wave of his hand and the orchestra crashes through like a storm. Another slight motion and the melody seems far away. It was a delightfully satisfying performance that can be repeated most any time.

The crowd was the largest of the season. About 2100 were present for this third presentation of this season's program. The season will close March 12 with Lotte Lehman.

Pfc. William R. Bowher, of Bloomington, Ind., has just completed one of the longest trips of the war according to the War department. He traveled from Marseille, France, to New Guinea and finally to his present assignment in the Philippines. He was among the first troops to be redeployed directly from Europe to the South Pacific.

Abandoned CCC Camps Materials May Be Salvaged

HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—(INS)—

The State Housing board reported today that abandoned civilian conservation corps and war prisoner camps in Pennsylvania may be combed for vital building materials to help alleviate the dwelling shortage.

Director Brenton G. Wallace said the board would consider a survey at a meeting February 26.

In addition to abandoned camps, Wallace explained, war prisoner areas still in use and possibly the Indian town Gap Military Reservation, owned by the state, would be searched for building materials not in use.

"There may be some buildings at some of the more modern camps that are not in use and, if so, we would like to find out," he stated.

GONE TO THE DOGS

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 20.—(INS)—

Everything has gone to the dogs in Pittsburgh—that is as far as law enforcement is concerned.

City dog catchers today began checking on the city's 30,000 canines to determine if they have a license. Of course, that's a lot of dogs for the local men to handle so they've called in agents from the State Bureau of Animal Industry.

Advice to Young Bulb Snatchers

• Life getting dull around the old homestead? Looking for some real excitement? Just snatch a bulb out of a well-cluttered closet. It may sound harmless, but wait until the kid brother wants to find his football. A closet is a bad place to light matches.

Advice to Parents: The way to avoid this kind of trouble is to keep an adequate stock of the right-sized lamp bulbs on hand at all times. It not only discourages bulb-snatching, (robbing one socket to fill another) but it also helps prevent headaches and eyestrain caused by wrong-sized bulbs.

Why not send the youngster to your nearest dealer for some good bright bulbs today?

Civilian Board Will Evaluate A-Bomb Tests

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(INS)—President Truman will name a civilian board to examine and evaluate the results of the Army-Navy atomic bomb tests at Bikini atoll in the Marshall Islands.

The White House made the announcement Tuesday with the assertion that the Army, Navy and Air Force will "run the show" and will be in complete control of the tests. A civilian board, however, will function independently to study the results of the large-scale atomic bomb tests against fleet units.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross said the president discussed the matter with his cabinet. The president's advisers were unanimous in the opinion that a civilian board should be set up to study and judge the results of the history-making experiment.

Ross said the board will consist of five or six members. The secretary said: "Of course, the Army, Navy and Air Force technicians will run the show. The civilian board will be a sort of supreme court in passing on the results of the tests."

"Will they be technical people?" Ross was asked.

He said he could not comment on the composition of the board at this time.

'Bible Commanders' Meetings To Start

Daily Programs For Children To Be Conducted In First Baptist Church At 4:15 P. M.

Beginning Monday afternoon, February 25, at 4:15 o'clock, meetings to be known as the Bible Commanders program, for grade school children, will be started in the First Baptist church, North and East streets.

Participating in the meetings will be the entire Burris Evangelistic party, who at present, are conducting services in the Cathedral auditorium, Lincoln avenue.

Neil Macaulay, who will direct the work for children, announces that the meetings are open for boys and girls from the ages of five to fifteen years and that they will run for approximately 45 minutes or until 5 o'clock.

The meetings will take on a military air, when the boys will become members of the "air corps" while the girls will join the "signal corps."

Mr. Macaulay announces that prizes are to be given to the children for their attendance and accomplishments in the meetings. Prizes include 12 Bibles, 40 New Testaments and a Gospel of John to each attendee.

Flamegraph stories will be used, magic will also form a part of the services, with plaques and certificates to be given to each child professing Christ as his Saviour.

Participates In Record Flight

Brother Of Local Woman On Flight Made From California To New York In Record Time

Arthur R. Moore, brother of Mrs. Ernest F. Jones, 110 Milton street, seems to have the knack for getting into big news.

Several years ago he served on the clipper that transported President Roosevelt to the Casablanca conference, and now it is learned that he was a radio operator on the Lockheed Constellation plane that made the record cross-country flight about two weeks ago.

Employee of the Pan American Airways, Mr. Moore wrote to his sister under date of February 12: "I was in Hollywood, Calif., for about 10 days waiting for one of our new planes, the Lockheed Constellation, and they are real beauties."

Telling about the cross-country flight, he stated: "We made it from Burbank, Calif., to New York in seven hours and 45 minutes. We passed over Youngstown and just a little bit north of Ellwood City coming back. It was all at night, though, so I couldn't recognize very much. From a beam in Chicago we were doing about 385 miles an hour, quite a difference from the old clippers that used to fly out of Miami about 120 miles per hour."

Moore is the son of Mrs. W. E. Geddes, Wayne avenue, Ellwood City.

Says Compulsory Training Program Proposal Unsound

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—(INS)—Brig. Gen. H. C. Holdridge, retired, declared today that the Army's plan for peacetime compulsory training is "unsound from a military point of view," and would be a stepping stone toward the third world war.

Holdridge told the house military affairs committee that the proposed plan would undermine national democracy by indoctrinating 18-year-old boys with the "totalitarian viewpoint" prevalent in the army.

Appearing before the group as legislative chairman of the Veterans League of America, Holdridge declared that the nation cannot get security by spending three billion dollars a year for a large conscript land army.

The retired general said that the Army's doctrine that wars have been won always by foot soldiers and will be won by foot soldiers is "as dangerous as the 'Mentor Line' complex which led to the undoing of France."

Another Power Strike Threat In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 20.—(INS)—Prospects of another power strike in the Pittsburgh district grew today after the independent union charged the Duquesne Light Co. with discrimination against its employees and the public and jumped its wage demands from 35 to 37 per cent.

A three-man impartial negotiation board, headed by Mayor David L. Lawrence, attempted to halt a breakdown in mediation talks by scheduling separate meetings with the company and the union today.

Rumors of another strike, greater than the walkout that partially paralyzed the city for 20 hours last Tuesday, became widespread when George L. Mueller, president of the union, warned there would be a complete—not a partial—shutdown of the company's power plants.

W. C. T. U. AND L. T. L.

East Side W.C.T.U. members gathered recently in the Third U. P. church for their yearly luncheon dinner in honor of Frances Willard. A sumptuous meal was served by Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Mrs. Charles Caruthers and Mrs. Homer Leslie.

Devotionals were in charge of Spiritual Life director, Mrs. Scott Munnell, who used "Prayer, the Vital Breath of the Christian" as her topic. She illustrated with prayers from the Old and New Testaments. Mrs. W. F. Reed, leader, presented a quiz in which each one answered a question on the subject "Frances Willard, Her Life and Work." A round table discussion on "Local Temperance" followed.

During the business session, conducted by Mrs. Munnell, vice president, reports were given by Mrs. R. J. Benson, Mrs. Lulu Koober, Mrs. Floyd Smock, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. J. E. Gorman, Mrs. Abe Kilgus, who will contribute toward the doo and Mrs. H. E. Thornburg, the amputee chair, being sent to the veterans hospital by the Lawrence County W.C.T.U. A report of calls, made to the Almira home, was given.

Mrs. W. F. Reed, Almira avenue, will receive the union Monday, March 11, when Mrs. Floyd Smock and Mrs. M. P. Booher will be co-hostesses. Mrs. R. L. Weide will be leader.

Piles—Get Relief Now

Millions of sufferers in the last 40 years have found a way to get quick relief from the itching and smarting of piles. They use a delightful cooling, soothing and astringent formula—Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous." 35c a box, all druggists, 60c in tube with applicator. Money back if not delighted.

Last evening marked one of the highlights of the concert season; an evening with the Cleveland orchestra under the direction of Erich Leonsdorf. It is with a great deal of satisfaction that New Castle acclaims Edward McGill, brilliant young pianist, accompanist for Donald Dame, Bruno Castagna and others of like talent. Our best wishes go with him for continued success.

May we suggest for continued listening pleasure the records of the Cleveland orchestra, namely—Rasels' "Daphnis and Chloe", Strauss' "Ein Heldenleben", Debussy's "La Mer", Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream", Tchaikovsky's "1812 Overture", Rasels' "Rhapsodie Espagnole", Tchaikovsky's "Romeo and Juliet", Kern's "Show Boat" and numerous others?

George Winter Tells Lions Of Navy Experiences

Former President Of Club, Recently Returned From Navy, Tells About Big Blow

George F. Winter, Jr., past president of the New Castle Lions Club, told club members of some of his interesting experiences during his hitch of service in the navy, particularly about the Okinawa invasion, in which he participated on an LCT.

He spoke about the hurricane which swept the island and which caused so much devastation, and told of his own personal experiences during this storm.

One of the things which amazed him, he related, was the number of vehicles which the army disgorged upon the island, and of how quickly the Seabees and army built practical roads to carry traffic, where there had been no roads before. The only method of transportation by the Japs had been rather scraggly looking horses.

In connection with the observance of National Brotherhood Week, James Gillespie, Negro youth from Senior high school, addressed the club on the matter of promoting better feeling among the various racial and religious groups in this country. He gave the same talk, which had been presented before the Rotary Club on the day previous by William McAnallen, and was accompanied by McAnallen, Roland Nord, and Don Levine, representing various faith and racial stock.

Since 1910 the size of the average American winter wheat farm has doubled.

Sound Motion Film At First Baptist

The God Of Creation To Be Shown At Mid-Week Service Tonight At 7:30 O'Clock

Vivid full-color scenes from astronomy and natural science are featured in "The God of Creation," sound motion picture to be shown tonight, at 7:45 o'clock, in the First Baptist church, North and East streets, according to Rev. O. W. Hurst, pastor.

In the first part of the picture, the audience is taken on a trip to the stars by means of solar photographs with the use of the giant telescope atop Mt. Wilson Observatory in southern California. Lapse time photography is used in the development of flowers from buds into full blown blossoms as well as the development of a caterpillar into a butterfly within a few minutes.

The audience will be able to view the food manufacturing processes of plants and the workings of the organisms in water, enlarged a million times through the microscope.

Seniors Complete Vocational Tests

Aptitude Tests Are Taken Voluntarily By All Of Senior A Class, Principal Reports

As a part of a comprehensive guidance program inaugurated at the senior high school three years ago, senior "A's" have just completed a group of interest and aptitude tests, the results of which will be used in future guidance interviews, according to Mrs. Marjorie Nelson, assistant principal of the school.

Interest in these tests, which are taken voluntarily by the students, has grown to such a degree that all of the seniors took one or another of the series. Tests were selected by the students in the following numbers: college aptitude, 110; music, 31; mechanical, 29; teaching, 39; engineering, 28; selling, 53; art, 36; and clerical, 80.

These tests, given by school psychologists Elmer Delaney, follow the Kuder interest tests given during the first semester and are selected by the students on the basis of the senior B tests. The purpose is to see whether or not a student's tested interests checks with his stated interest, so that he may check and analyze himself if there should be a conflict. During the remainder of the senior year a series of group interviews concerning the various fields of interest will be scheduled and the students will be referred to persons who can advise them about their plans and aptitudes. Materials, such as college catalogs, will also be supplied, Mrs. Nelson explained.

CARE OF SOWS NOW AFFECTS SPRING PIGS

Care and attention given to breeding sows now have a definite effect on the condition of the spring pig litters. During the last two months of the gestation period the unborn pigs are developing rapidly and the size and vigor of pigs at farrowing time is reflected in the attention given the sows now.

An ample supply of a well-balanced ration is essential and should include between 16 and 18 per cent protein. At least some of this protein should be from animal sources, since they contain the essential amino-acids lacking in vegetable proteins. These must be present at this time for best results.

If a sow is not properly fed at this time she is likely to be weak at farrowing time and have an abnormal appetite which could force her to kill some of the pigs shortly after farrowing.

It is also important to have the essential vitamins in the rations, largely supplied by good legume hay, either in racks or ground into grain mixtures. Feed should be provided in large enough quantities to have the sow in good flesh at farrowing time. The rate of gain is determined by the condition of the sow at this time, but she should average a half to a pound gain each day.

Bell And Davis Moves Awaited

State Political Leaders
Watch For Announcement Of Their Intentions

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Feb. 20.—Capitol Hill political leaders have been eagerly watching for announcement from Lt. Gov. John C. Bell, Jr., of Winnetown, and former U. S. Sen. James J. Davis, of Pittsburgh, concerning their future plans. . . . Bell, regarded by some leaders as the top candidate for the GOP gubernatorial nomination, was expected to be an independent candidate for the $18,000 a year post if he fails to win organization support. . . . Although Davis has not announced his intentions, Lewis G. Hines, of Washington, D. C., former secretary of Labor and Industry, has secured nomination petitions for the elder statesman.

Some officials have pointed out that if Bell and Davis should team up for the primary election an inter-party squabble would occur. . . . High party leaders were expected to expend every effort to avoid battles between party factions. . . . Gov. Edward Martin has emphasized to leaders the need for party harmony at the May 21 primary election. The chief executive specifically told the 23-member Republican state executive committee that "it was highly important that harmony prevail in the party."

The Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (AFL) has initiated a fund-raising campaign for the construction of a new building to replace its present headquarters near the state capitol. . . . The present building will be acquired by the state under the proposed Capitol Park Extension Plan. . . . "The Pennsylvania Federationist," PFL organ has reported that union members had been asked to pledge contributions before March 15 but did not disclose the anticipated cost of the new building.

The Pennsylvania Industrial Union Council (CIO), has released pamphlets calling upon voters to scan the legislative records of assemblymen before casting ballots. "These records tell how each legislator voted on measures of real importance to labor and the people," the booklet stated. "They are the last word on what each legislator has done as a public representative."

The State Revenue Department has reported that 55.8 per cent of the 673 pedestrians killed in motor vehicle accidents in Pennsylvania during 1945 were 15 years of age or younger, 65 or older. . . . One hundred and seventy-four pedestrian fatalities were youths under 15 and 202 deaths were persons over 65 years of age.

AROUND CITY HALL

City Council is preparing to hire an assistant to City Engineer John Z. Street. The man must be registered for the engineering exam. In addition, a roomman and chairman must be employed to conduct a survey of sewers, present and proposed, and other work which must be done here. However, the city salary ordinance only calls for a salary of $176.00 for an assistant to the city engineer. It has been reported that registered engineers are not clamoring for the job.

Indications are Council will be required to increase the salary commensurate with the qualifications if a registered engineer is employed. For a task so important, it has been pointed out, the salary is meagre and less than paid for less important jobs in city service. However, the city clerk, C. Ed. Brown, has mailed notices to members of the Civil Service Board of Engineers to conduct examination to ascertain if eligibles are available.

New Ford bought for the Police department is a wheel practically every hour of the 24. It is a fast car and is capable of catching bandits of speeders. Motorists arrested for speeding no more have the opportunity of fetching out a 10-spot and paying it at Police headquarters and ending the charge. They now must answer to a warrant sworn before an alderman and upon conviction face the possibility of having their operating privilege suspended. . . . Plans for holding Civil Service tests for police and firemen have not yet been made and whether or not they can be held until six months after was officially declared ended, awaits a legal opinion.

There are approximately 3,000 anti-friction ball and roller bearings of all types in the modern commercial coast-to-coast passenger and freight airplanes.

Many Register For 'Y' Banquet

William Winter, program director of the Y. M. C. A., announced today that some 20 persons have made reservations for the scheduled father and sons banquet to be held at the "Y" March 1. Registration for the dinner will have to be held to some 30 couples. Mr. Winter said due to lack of space, Dave Gatrall, recently discharged from the navy, who will assume the duties of boys' secretary with the local branch soon, will attend the banquet and be one of the speakers. This will be his first contact with the boys of the organization.
